INFORMATION ABOUT SARATOV

Saratov is the cultural and educational capital of the Volga region, a city with a surprisingly interesting history, kind and hospitable people, interesting places and attractions.

- Saratov is one of the twenty largest cities in Russia, although it is not a million-plus city.
- Saratov was founded as a guard fortress to protect the borders.
- The city, stretching along the Volga for 34 km, is located in a basin surrounded on three sides by low (up to 250 m) mountains.
- The world's first cosmonaut, Yuri Gagarin, studied at Saratov Industrial College and Saratov Aero Club from 1951 to 1955. Yu.A. Gagarin also successfully returned to Saratov land after his first space flight.
- Nikolai Nikolayevich Semenov, considered a native of Saratov – is the only winner of the world famous Nobel Prize in Chemistry awarded to a Russian citizen.
- Long before the foundation of Saratov, a settlement of the Golden Horde was located on its place.
- Today many descendants of Germans live in Saratov. For a long time, the territory of the Volga region remained practically uninhabited, and then Catherine II allocated it for foreign colonists, many of whom came from German territories.

Saratov region is a remarkable and unique territory, full of mysteries and unusual places, where modern technology is mixed with intact nature.

THE MONITORING OF LEARNING ACHIEVEMENTS

The purpose of the current monitoring progress is to gauge the levels of student development knowledge of subjects during the semester.

The teacher sets the form of the test: written or oral. The test is taken at the final seminar class. Test's results are recorded officially in the student's academic record as "Pass" or "Fail".

At the exam, students may freely choose examination papers. The examiner cannot independently distribute questing paper. Student who does not appear for the exam has to inform dean's office about the reasons and submit documents that show respectful cause for the absence. In the absence of good cause of failure to attend an exam, it is considered as absenteeism.

PROCEDURE FOR THE SETTLEMENT IN A DORMITORY:

1. For the housing is needed to write a personal application (sample application can be provided by the dean's office of the Institute).
2. Collect the necessary documents (list of documents can be provided by the dean's office of the Institute).
3. Submit the application and necessary documents to the dean's office of the Institute.
4. Wait for conformation of settlement.
5. Collect medical certificates for settlement.
6. Settle to dormitory within three working days.
7. In case of refusal, continue to confirm your turn until positive decision is taken.
